

LOMAKA GALLERY

London

Liliya Milpetrova

The Nose, 2015

Stainless steel, gold, brass, leather, clay, 25x28x28cm

Liliya Milpetrova graduated from the London College of Fashion (UAL). She is the winner of Society of Women Artists' Special Award and Silver A Design Award. Milpetrova is a multidisciplinary artist, who creates psychological self-portraits in 3D, incorporating her aquiline nose as an integral element. Living in an era, where a 'hooked' nose is considered imperfection, while dysmorphophobia has become an epidemic, she deliberately practices self-irony and brings into question the importance of self-worth. Through her work the artist aims to provide an Ariadne's thread, to the viewers to guide right back them to their true selves.

Education

BA (Hons) Art, Fashion and Jewellery, London College of Fashion (UAL)
Foundation Degree in Fine Arts, The National Academy of Arts, Bulgaria

Exhibitions

2017 – 'START' Saatchi Gallery, London
2017 – '156th Annual exhibition,' The Society of Women Artists, Mall Galleries,
London

2017 – ‘The Craftsmanship & Design Awards Exhibition’ Goldsmith’s Hall, London
2017 – ‘Nude,’ Candid Gallery, Candid Art Trust, London
2017 – ‘The Dark Arts,’ Candid Gallery, Candid Art Trust, London
2016 – ‘155th Annual exhibition,’ The Society of Women Artists, Mall Galleries,
London
2016 – ‘Group Exhibition’ College of Architects Gallery, Cantabria, Spain
2016 – ‘MOOD,’ Museum of Outstanding Design, Italy
2016 – Cube Design Museum, Netherlands
2016 – Bologna Design Week, Italy
2016 - Shenzhen International Industrial Design Fair, Shenzhen, China
2014 – ‘153rd Annual exhibition,’ The Society of Women Artists, Mall Galleries,
London
2014 – ‘Fashioned: Wearable Artwork,’ London Fashion Week, various locations
2011 - ‘Futurista,’ African Fashion Week, London
2010 – ‘Out of Darkness,’ British Jewellery Association and International Jewellery,
London

Publications

Contributor for Elle Magazine, Bulgaria

Awards

2016 – Society of Women Artists: London Special Award for Sculpture, Mall Galleries,
London
2016 – Silver A Design Award Winner in Category Art & Craft, Italy